South-end school debate continues

Banks accuses school board of inaction, waste

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
In a heated discussion County School Board member Johnny Banks accused the board Thursday of mismanaging funds and not acting to build the proposed high school in southern Hancock County.

Banks' comments at a 9 a.m. recess meeting were during a discussion of inadequate classroom space and maintenance work underway at several county schools.

The discussion began when Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills told the board, "I'd like to see an elementary music and art program in all of our schools, but right now we need classrooms."

"Dr. Frank Lovell, State Educational

Finance Commission director wants to work with us step by step in building this high school," Sills said.

A school patron asked, "Does this mean we won't get a school without a bond issue?"

"Doesn't the school board have enough money to build a school," the patron also asked.

Sills replied, "We have $388,000."

Banks stated, "Why do we have to spend money for this and that when we could build some classrooms now."

The school patron added, "Our children are being discriminated against."

Banks said, "Why don't we build the classrooms we need?"

"The problem is, we don't have priorities in the school district," Banks added.

Board President Woodrow Ladner replied, "If we went ahead we could build more classrooms here and there throughout the county, but we would still have the problem with Hancock North Central High School location."

"We'll still have children being bussed to HNC in the north part of the county," Ladner said.

"What we're trying to do is to get a high school in the south end of the county," Ladner explained.

Banks asked former superintendent and current 16th Section Land Manager Terry Randolph, "When you proposed a bond issue it was for an elementary, junior high and high school?"

Randolph replied, "It would have made a south end junior and senior high school."

Banks asked, "Where are classrooms needed the most?"

"Until we show the people what we're going to do with our $1 million, we can't get a bond issue passed," Banks stated.

Ladner explained further, "If we built a high school we would have additional classrooms where we need them. It would be wasteful to build a few classrooms now."

Banks said, "Since the bond issues failed we haven't done anything. It took eight years to build the handicapped school, is it going to take another eight

Hit-and-run, motorcycle mishaps mar holiday weekend

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Local police reported Saturday the long Fourth of July weekend was 'quiet,' despite an alleged hit-and-run accident and a separate motorcycle mishap which landed three people in hospitals.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, "When you consider the number of people over this weekend, so far it has been really quiet and I hope it continues that way."

Bay St. Louis Investigator Matt Karl reported he is investigating a hit and run incident which occurred at 2 a.m.

Saturday.

Karl reported that Billy Joe Averheart, 29, 108 Spruce Street, Pass Christian, owner of a 1979 pickup truck has been charged for allegedly running into a vehicle on North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis and leaving the scene.

Karl said an Oldsmobile was parked on the side of Beach Boulevard with John Fox sitting on the driver's seat with his feet hanging out the vehicle and Eddie Picas of Baton Rouge was leaning against the car. Picas said he tried to get out of the path of the oncoming pick-up truck, but it slammed into the car, closing the door on Fox's legs and pinning Picas between the car and truck, Karl reported.

Picas and Fox were taken to Hancock General Hospital in a private car, where they were treated for bruises and later released, police say.

"While the two were being treated at Hancock General the owner of the Oldsmobile, Cort Schaumburg of Metairie, and a number of friends followed the pick-up truck to the Royal Pine Apartments in Pass Christian. They then summoned the Mississippi Highway Patrol, Pass Christian Police and Bay Patrolman Albert Blehl," Karl recounted.

Karl said Averheart was booked at the Hancock County jail and placed under a $5,000 bond. He will be scheduled to appear before Bay St. Louis City Judge Joseph Benvenutti.

In a separate accident involving a motorcycle, Cheryl Craig, 20, 120 Hartle, Waveland was charged with speeding, reckless driving, no helmet on passenger, no drivers license and

Teacher travel pay plan shelved by county board

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County School Board took under advisement a proposal by Board member Louie Ladner Thursday to pay teachers for daily work travel to county schools.

Ladner estimated his proposal would cost the county $33,660 annually based upon the 180-day school year.

"I've been compiling information on teachers and the miles they travel to Hancock North Central and other schools," Ladner reported.

"I've worked up a deal on how we could pay these teachers and to do so I've worked up a plan for travel assistance," Ladner explained.

"The most equitable plan is an amount per day based on mileage," Ladner said.

Board President Woodrow Ladner suggested, "It sounds good, but this program should be for all employees."

Louie Ladner explained, "Most of the time when a janitor leaves you don't have problems getting another one, but when a teacher leaves it's hard to get a replacement."

"We're losing teachers now because they can't afford the gasoline to drive to our schools," Louie Ladner added.

"If we cut my total proposal in half it might be better," he suggested.

Woodrow Ladner stated, "If we renegotiate our pay scales it might be a way of solving this problem."

Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills asked, "Have you thought about car pooling?"

Louie Ladner replied, "If we have a teacher who lives 10 miles or more then we should think about car pooling."

"I'll tell you all that if we don't do things like this, we're going to be forced to do something," he added.

Sills suggested, "Why don't we take this under advisement and work this out."

Board Member Oris Ladner said, "Yes, for three or four more years. I'll only go along with this if every employee is included in the program."

Woodrow Ladner stated, "I think we better think about this supplement we're giving teachers now because all the people in the top brackets are getting salary increases and others are not."

Louie Ladner explained, "The cost of living has gone up and I think we need to be thinking along the lines of some kind of travel pay."

In another matter, the board approved a request by 16th Section Land Manager Terry Randolph to advertise the leasing of 640 acres in Section 16, Township 9, Range 15 near Ansley.

"The land is appraised at $400 per acre as farm residential, so it should be leased for around $20 per acre," Randolph said.

"I would like to advertise this for bids as agricultural, farm residential and also ask for proposals," the manager stated.

"They would have to pay more for farm residential because they can lease it for 25 years," Randolph reported.

"The law says 160 acres is the maximum amount to lease to one person, but usually people can get more land by putting it in the name of a wife, daughter or son," Randolph explained.

Louie Ladner asked, "What about reappraisal of the land?"

Randolph replied, "The law says this can be done after six years. When I have approval to reclassify the land then we have it reappraised."

Woodrow Ladner suggested, "Since you understand all that 16th Section jargon why don't you work up that proposal."

The manager said, "Some of that land is low, but I'll draw up the best description I can."

Oris Ladner reported, "A lot of that land is swamp."

In other business, at the 9 a.m. recess meeting at the County Youth Court Building in Bay St. Louis, the board:

- Approved the transfer requested by Janice M. Ladner from Gulfview Elementary School to Hancock North Central Elementary School for the 1980-81 school year;
- Approved increasing mileage rate

MARSH FIRE Clouds of smoke billow from a marsh fire at Buccanier State Park behind the Wave Pool Friday as local firemen allow the flames to burn out. The fire started the park's nature hiking trail, but no injuries were reported, according to Waveland Fire Chief Kenneth Foyard. Foyard said the blaze was started by careless use of fireworks. Banks from the fire could be seen as far away as Henderson Point in Pass Christian. In addition to Waveland fire units, the Clarks Harbor Fire Department and state park personnel assisted in controlling the fire. (Staff photo-Rich Adams) years to build a high school?"

"If you remember, before the last bond issue we said we had a second plan if the bond issue failed," Banks reported.

"We had two plans submitted to the EFC and we were suppose to do an alternate plan," Banks added.

School Patron Irene Richey said, "I don't know what will convince you (the school board) that we need this school."

Ladner said to Sills, "Would you get us some concrete information on this school situation?"

Banks also questioned payments to Bay Construction Co. for reconstruction work at Gulfview Elementary School.

However, the board unanimously approved the $16,350 payment to the Diamondhead firm.

Banks asked, "Have we got a total price to complete the work at Gulfview?"

Sills replied, "We've spent $250,000 and it's probably going to reach $300,000 when the work is completed, but we are applying for a federal grant."

Banks stated, "They've (the federal government) turned us down for a grant."

Mrs. Richey said, "That was like the fence at Gulfview. Half of the fence wasn't even damaged, but it was taken down and put up again."

Banks said, "Since we got this oil lease money this board was been wasting its money."

"We just hired two people at $10 per hour and Board member Monvel Cuevas got the National Guard to do landscaping work at HNC and we were billed for it. They were suppose to do the work for free with us paying just for materials," Banks reported.

"The ditches, which have taken so long to dig for plumbing at HNC, could have been dug in one day," Banks added.

Ladner stated, "This board has spent

D'Anna was transferred to Gulfport Memorial and later to Charity Hospital, New Orleans with a possible broken back, Karl added.

Bay Policemen Berlon Dennis, Russell Watts and Eddie Williams responded to the accident with Karl investigating.

Hancock Sheriff Peterson reported several minor auto accidents Friday and Saturday, in addition to several arrest involving alcoholic consumption.

Shell planting resumes in County waters

During June, Ratcliff Materials, Inc. of New Orleans began planting clam shells on oyster reefs in the western part of Mississippi Sound.

The shells serve as cultch, material on which oyster spat settle and become attached.

Funds used for this project came from two sources. Included is about $80,000 in federal flood disaster recovery money received last year by the state, and about $120,000 remaining of the $200,000 appropriated by the Mississippi legislature for the second year of a five-year program to develop the oyster industry.

William Demoran and John Cirino of the Laboratory said the Waveland, St. Stanislaus, and Bay St. Louis reefs are being rehabilitated.

Shells will be planted also on an old, silted over, reef site off the coast of Long Beach, on the White House relay site, and on the Pascagoula relay site near Round Island.

Space shuttle tank contract awarded

A $230 million contract has been awarded to the Martin Marietta Aerospace Denver (Colo.) Division by NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., for the initial phase of full-scale production of Space Shuttle External Tanks.

The External Tanks, which carry propellant for the Space Shuttle's Main Engines, are the only part of the Shuttle that is not recovered for reuse. An earlier contract with Martin Marietta covered the design, development and delivery of nine tanks - three as test articles and six as flight articles for the Shuttle orbital test flights.

This new production contract represents the beginning of flight tank production to support Shuttle operational missions. It covers delivery of seven External Tanks and provides long lead time procurement for components and subassemblies for five additional tanks and raw material for 19 more units.

Elements of the production program include:

- (1) manufacture, assembly, test, and delivery of each External Tank;
- (2) procurement of components and subassemblies;
- (3) procurement of raw materials; and
- (4) program management and administration, and incorporation of design, performance and production changes.

Martin Marietta will manufacture the external tanks at Marshall Center's Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans.

Hancock County included Picayune until 1908

Did you know that there was once a separate and independent county between Picayune and Poplarville with the south line about two miles north of Picayune and the north line about two miles south of Poplarville?

Hancock and Marion Counties were two of the original counties established when the state was organized in 1817. The old line between these counties was the township line between Townships two and Townships three. This old line runs from the center of Pearl River about three miles north of Cross Roads, east, crossing where the railroad meets and present Highway 11 about 1.5 miles south of the courthouse at Poplarville, and on to the present line between Pearl River and Stone counties.

Thus as you see Hancock County, back then, extended all the way from the Gulf of Mexico to that line.

The original courthouse and county seat of Hancock County was old Center located about a mile east of where Caesar now stands and was close to the geographical center of Hancock county as it then existed.

It was so located that people from any part of the county could reach the county seat with not more than a one day's ride on a horse.

As the county grew in population, most of the new residents settled along Pearl River. Very few people moved into the interior portions of the county.

After about 20 years Gainsville had grown into quite a town and other river sections had grown in population so much, that the center of population of the county had changed, and Gainsville was much nearer the population center than old Center.

Because of this change, the county seat was moved to Gainsville about 1837. While the population along Pearl River was growing, the coast area was also increasing in population, and it was not long before the coast area had become the population center of Hancock County.

Because there were so many people along the coast by about 1850, the people along the coast began to agitate for the courthouse to be moved to Bay St. Louis.

Finally an election was held and the majority voted for the courthouse to be moved to Bay St. Louis.

When the courthouse was moved to Bay St. Louis, right in the very southeast corner of the big county, that left the people up in the north part of the county particularly in the northwest part of the county, a long distance from the county seat, more than 50 miles for some of them. This was a great inconvenience to the people living at Byrd's Chapel, in the Derby, Savannah and other northern sections of the county.

To pay their taxes, to go to court, to get a marriage license, and to attend to other matters these people had to ride a horse all the way to Bay St. Louis, a long and exhausting trip. On a horse it was a good 2 day trip down and another 2 day trip back home, providing the streams did not get up, or bad weather came.

Mr. Joe Burks Sr. who had often made that trip, said he had known a man to be gone for a week, even up to two weeks, on a trip to Bay St. Louis.

Because it was so inconvenient to get to Bay St. Louis and back, there was a lot of talk about a new county. There was plenty of area for a new county, but it was too thinly settled that their first efforts failed.

From the information I have been able to get, three men from the general area of the north end of the county were named by a well attended mass meeting at old Riceville post office to go to Jackson in January of 1872 and go before the legislature and ask for a new county to serve this northern part of Hancock County and southern part of Marion County.

I have been able to find out but two of the names of these three men who went to Jackson. One was Thomas Martin who lived out on East Boley east of McNeill.

While I have never been there, I understand that he, with a number of others, is buried in an old cemetery there.

The indications are that there was a little village of some consequence in that location back then. Another one selected was James J. Mitchell who lived southwest of Henleyfield about 1.5 miles. These men left home on horse back to go the long distance to Jackson, something like 150 miles, just after Christmas in 1871.

It took them about a week to get to Jackson. They met the legislature, got considerable encouragement, and had their bill prepared establishing the new county, to be named Pearl County. They first asked for the south line of Pearl County be established between Townships six and Townships seven, which would have made the county line start just west of Cedar Grove church on Pearl River and extend on eastward through Flat Top, Catahoula and on to the line between Ranges 13 and 14 West, thence up this line to the line between Townships one and two South and thence to Pearl River, which would have taken the south miles of Marion county.

But, they ran into trouble. The Hancock representative did not want to give up so much land and the Marion representative did not want to give up any land. In order to get the new county, they had to agree to a smaller area.

Here is a part of the act establishing Pearl County: "Be it enacted by the legislature of the State of Mississippi, that the county of Pearl be, and same is hereby created and shall be bounded by beginning at the point in the middle of Pearl River, in the center between Townships 5 and six West in the County of Hancock; thence running east, through ranges 18, 17, 16, 15 and 14 to the line between ranges 13 and 14 west; thence north on said range line, to the line between Townships two and three South, between Marion and Hancock Counties; thence west on said township line to Pearl River; thence down the center of Pearl River to the point of beginning."

This embraced the north 18 miles of Hancock County, the new county being about 30 miles east and west and 18 miles north and south. They lacked 6 miles going as far south as they wanted to, and they lacked 6 miles going as far north as they wanted to.

The south line started on Pearl River, ran east through what is now Richardson, on two miles south of Caesar and about two miles south of Necaise on to the present Hancock-Harrison line. Of course the north line was the old well-established Hancock-Marion county line. The act authorizing the county set out the steps by which it would be organized, with 3 male citizens to act as commissioners for this purpose. They were to meet within 20 days, and organize the county by dividing it up into five supervisors' districts, arrange to establish voting precincts, register all qualified voters and hold an election.

Riceville post office, then located at what is now known as the Indian Byrd place on Hwy. 43 about 2 miles north of old Henleyfield church was the temporary county seat. The following officers were elected: Thomas Martin, sheriff and assessor; James J. Mitchell, Chancery and Circuit clerk; Hiram P. Smith, treasurer (he lived near where Savannah school is now located); J.M. Burge, surveyor; and James Martin, coroner and ranger.

There was no representative as the act provided that Pearl County would share a representative with Hancock County. There was then no such office as county superintendent.

A board of supervisors was also elected along with the other county officers but I have failed to find out all their names. Joe Burks Sr., father of the late Harvey Burks of Rt. 3, Picayune, was one of the supervisors.

Another was named Mitchell and I understand he came from Richardson, and I understand another was named Smith.

When the time came to elect officers for the full term, the same time that officers all over the state were elected, James E. Wheat was elected sheriff; O.A. Mitchell, chancery and circuit clerk (he lived where George Ford now is); Thomas Martin, treasurer; James J. Mitchell, surveyor and Charles Jerrel, coroner (he lived at Henleyfield).

Again I could not get the names of all the supervisors but Joe Burks Sr. was one and a man named Martin another. I am told that Mr. Harvey Stewart, the father of Joe R. Stewart and Monroe Stewart, was deputy sheriff under James E. Wheat.

After the officers were elected and the county fully organized, Byrd's Chapel was named as the county seat.

A two-story log building was erected to serve as the courthouse.

This same building also served as the Masonic Lodge, and as the Methodist church.

Another story told to me was that the building was already there, the upstairs being a Masonic Lodge and the downstairs a Methodist church, and that the county arranged with the church, and the lodge to use it as a courthouse and as a school. It seems this old building got plenty use.

I have not been able to get any information about what happened in Pearl County for the next two or three years, but we do know that in 1877, the courthouse with all records burned.

There have been numerous stories as to why the courthouse burned, but one that has been told, and retold, usually in whispers, is that criminal charges had been brought against certain prominent parties and that these men burned the courthouse to destroy all the records and evidence.

After the courthouse and records were burned, that ended the brief history of Pearl County.

In the first place, the population was very small - not enough to support a county.

Another thing, almost all the land was public land and enough taxes could not be raised to support a county. And another fact seems evident in talking to old people - there was much dissension among the people. Just about everybody agreed to do away with the county and let the area it covered revert back to its former status.

The railroad came through in 1884 and 1885 and there was immediately a great clamor for a new county. Many new people moved into the new railway towns. Going 50 miles to Bay St. Louis and about as far to Columbia for so many people simply was not practical.

Pearl River County was formed in 1890 to embrace the north rows of two townships of Hancock County and the south two rows of townships in Marion County with Poplarville as the county seat. The Carriere, Picayune and Nicholson areas were added to Pearl River County in 1908.

If you had lived in Picayune up to 1908, you would still have had to go all the way to Bay St. Louis to court and there were no good roads back then and no cars.

Public invited to NSTL space event in Vancleave

The National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County will sponsor a teacher workshop at Vancleave's Stars Planetarium July 7-11.

Mack Herring, NSTL's public affairs officer, said Thursday afternoon, "Teachers from Jackson County and Pascagoula will participate in a regularly scheduled event and the public is invited to attend several segments of the workshop."

"Interested persons are requested to contact Jim McMurtrey at the planetarium for information about starting times and available space," Herring explained.

"Dr. Jerry Brown, NSTL acting educational officer for the public affairs office, will discuss the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's present role in astronomy relating to recent planetary probe discoveries," the public affairs officer explained.

"This includes the Voyager encounters with Jupiter and Saturn, as well as information dealing with the Viking probe of Mars," Herring said.

"Other topics of discussion will be the Space Shuttle's future role in astronomy dealing with space telescopes, deep space probes and planned missions in space," Herring stated.

"Teachers will be given the unique opportunity to build realistic models of rockets and aircraft which will give them an idea of propulsion and various other aspects of aeronautics," Herring added.

Chatworth treasures at museum

"Treasures from Chatworth: The Devonshire Inheritance," an exhibition on loan from the Eleventh Duke of Devonshire and scheduled in New Orleans through July 6, will remain at the New Orleans Museum of Art through July 20. The exhibition was originally scheduled to tour Richmond, Virginia; Fort Worth and San Antonio, Toledo, Ohio, New Orleans and San Francisco, but due to cutbacks caused by Proposition 13 in California and the inability to locate other funding sources, The Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco was forced to cancel the final showing.

The "Treasures from Chatworth" will complete its travels with a showing at the Royal Academy, London, in the Fall of 1980.

"Treasures from Chatworth" is an exhibition of more than 250 Old Master paintings and drawings, rare prints and books, period furniture, gold and silver plate, gems, jewelry, porcelain and sculpture representing a single family's collecting activities for a period of over 400 years. The exhibition is organized by the International Exhibitions

Cheryl is among 125 Mississippi students selected to participate in the Conference, which is designated to help develop future leaders for marketing and distribution.

It was held at the Fontainebleau Hilton Hotel, Miami Beach, June 21-25, and was expected to have over 7,000 DECA members, state advisors, and local advisors in attendance representing all fifty states plus the district of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, and Guam.

DECA is the only national student organization operating through the nation's schools to attract young people to careers in marketing, merchandising, and management.

Its purposes are (1) to develop a respect for education which will contribute to occupational competence, and (2) to promote understanding and appreciation for the responsibilities of citizenship in our free, competitive enterprise system.

The purpose of the National DECA Career Development Conference is to provide worthwhile activities to assist students in career developments as they prepare to be marketing and distribution leaders of tomorrow. There are almost 200 exciting activities throughout the Conference, all planned and designed for this development.

Many of these sessions are prepared and conducted by the National Officers of DECA, who are assisted by other outstanding student leaders from DECA's State Association.

Cheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.S. Crosby of 605 Beyer Drive, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

He is secretary of the local DECA Chapter. She is employed by Quality Drugs as part of her Distributive Education course. She will also serve as District IV vice-president.

A special feature of the Conference was the presentation of scholarships to a number of outstanding Distributive Education students for advanced study in marketing, management or distributive education. Nationally known leaders from the fields of marketing, education and government will speak at the Conference, serve as competitive event judges and consultants.

BLESSED IS THE NATION
whose God is the Lord;...
Psalms 33:12.

Independence Day, July 4, 1800, marks the 24th Anniversary of the date of adoption of the Declaration of Independence.

As so clearly pointed out in a recent newspaper letter by my good friend, Charles Lippman of Pascagoula, a great Mississippian, a true American patriot, and a Christian gentleman, the Declaration of Independence strongly affirms and supports the Divine Origin of human rights. The Declaration is a clear and profound basis for the constitution and Bill of Rights.

These facts should be made known in our homes, churches, schools, places of work and community organizations. God grant that we all may have the courage to uphold the main premises of the Declaration.

Our founding fathers made it unmistakably clear that God is the very foundation of "all Men."

They deliberately included in the Declaration, four significant references to Him: two at the beginning and two at the end.

First, "the laws of Nature and of Nature's God." Jefferson stressed that basic human rights are rooted in the "Laws of Nature," and more precisely, in "Nature's God."

Second, "endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights..." Jefferson and the other committee members John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Robert Livingston and Roger Sherman, submitted this second reference to God.

"We should hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness."

It does not suggest that all men are created equal physically, mentally, socially nor economically, but rather as to their "rights" in the purposes, love and care of God.

The members of the 1776 Congress added two more references to God. Third, "...appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World..." "As they turned to Divine Authority to justify their forthright actions."

"We therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in general Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the World for rectitude of our intentions..."

Fourth, "...with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence..." In the closing sentence of the Declaration, Congress made one last profession of trust in God, as emphasized by these compelling words.

"And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor."

Let us resolve to strengthen our belief and our trust in God. Let us stand fast, as we believe our forefathers did, for God and Country.

In the crisis of today, there must not be any summer soldiers and sunshine patriots. Let us say as did the late General Douglas MacArthur, "Duty, Honor, Country, these three, the Heritage of Activities will get under way with the invocation at 9:00 a.m., and will include gospel singing, public speaking, bicycle, long distance races divided into four classification.

Two races will be 13 miles for 13 years of age and above, and two miles for 12 and under; softball tournament; airplane rides from ranch airport; demonstrations by aero-stunt jumpers and powered hanged gliders; horseshoe and washer pitching tournaments; and other activities.

There will be country food including fresh fried Mississippi catfish and all the trimmings, seafood gumbo, tasty hamburgers, country home-made pies and cakes, hot coffee and cold drinks.

"Country Day U.S.A." is planned as a family festival of fun and fellowship; of recreation and inspiration for children, young folks and elders alike. Many plan to come dressed in old-fashioned "country" clothes.

All receipts for sale of food, rides, fees and donations will go to Prisoners Bible Crusade for purchase and distribution of Bibles to prison inmates.

PBC (Prisoners Bible Crusade) has given more than 51,000 Bibles to inmates in 36 states since 1973.

Dr. L.S. Walker of P.B.C. says: "The work of Prisoners Bible Crusade is an outreach for that unreachd part of our society forgotten by most Christian ministries. We believe that regeneration will work even when rehabilitation does not."

The National Prison Directory says there are 951 state prisons and 103 federal prisons. These correctional institutions are filled. These do not take into account the thousands who are incarcerated in county and municipal jails. Many of these are very young men and women.

Activities will continue through the day until 6:00 p.m.

For further information about the ministry of PBC, or "Country Day U.S.A." activities, call 788-7163, 788-8465 or 788-6431, or write Prisoners Bible Crusade, Inc., P.O. Box 696, Pigeon, Miss. 39466.

Ready to explode
Q. My 23-year-old daughter is going to marry a guy we do not like. Believe me, we have good reasons. But I just cannot stand to even look at him, so of course I never see him. He is not allowed to come to our house. I do want to go to the wedding, and I told my daughter I wouldn't. Do I have to? This hurts me so, for we were always so close. Also I have been tied down to a paraplegic son for 4 years, and I hate it. I feel like I will explode any minute. What can I do? Disappear?

A. Better make peace with life. Whether we, as parents, like it or not, our children have the right to choose their mates in marriage. Sometimes time proves them wrong, but in

NASA reduces shuttle tank

The Marshall Space Flight Center Huntsville, Ala., has announced plans to reduce the weight of the Space Shuttle's external propellant tank by 6,000 pounds. This change has the potential to increase the Shuttle's payload-carrying capability by almost the same amount.

Marshall has amended its existing External Tank design and development contract with Martin Marietta Aerospace, Denver (Colo.) Division, to add more than $2.9 million to cover the weight reduction redesign and development efforts and to modify tooling to be used in future production.

Martin Marietta is already building nine tanks, including three test articles and six tanks, to be used in the Shuttle orbital flight test series. These are not affected. The design change will apply to tanks to be built under a separate contract, signed today, which calls for Martin Marietta to begin the initial phase of full-scale External Tank production to support operational launches of the Shuttle. The first lightweight External Tank is expected to be delivered in the summer of 1982.

INVITATION FOR BIDS
STUMPAGE FOR SALE

ON COUNTY SCHOOL LANDS

Sealed bids will be received by the Hancock County Board of Education at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, Hancock County, up to and not later than 9 a.m., July 7, 1980, for the purchase on a lump sum basis of all timber, standing or down, designated for cutting in Section 16, Township 9S, Range 15W, estimated to contain 1176 cords of pulpwood more or less. The above figures are not to be construed to be the exact volume marked.

Each bidder is expected to make his own cruise and to bid accordingly. Before bids are submitted, full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale and the submission of the bids should be obtained from the Hancock County Superintendent of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, or the District Forester, Wiggins, Mississippi. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved.

This is a simple row thinning of a pine plantation. Every third row is designated to be sold and removed. At a minimum, every fifth tree in a row that is to be removed was marked with a good spot of orange paint.

Proposals shall be accompanied by a cashier's check, certified check, money order, or bid bond in the amount of five percent (5 percent) of the maximum total of the proposal, made payable to the Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. If a bid bond is used, it shall be signed or counter-signed by a Mississippi agent of a surety company qualified and authorized to do business in the State, as required by law. Cash or unperfected checks shall not be accepted, and if attached shall disqualify the bid.

All timber will be paid for when the timber contract is signed. The successful bidder must deposit with the Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, ten percent (10 percent) of the total bid to guarantee the faithful performance of each and every article of the timber sale contract. Upon written notice of completion of the contract in full by the buyer, the Seller will return the performance bond in full, less any money withheld as damages by the Seller.

Bids should be addressed to the Hancock County Board of Education, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. The envelope should be clearly marked to indicate that it contains a bid for timber.

The timber may be inspected at any time.

Representatives of the Mississippi Forestry Commission will meet all interested buyers on the steps of the courthouse, Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, at 1:00 p.m., July 26, 1980, to show them the tract of timber and explain markings, how trees were measured, expected volume from specific trees, and answer other questions. The contract will be for a period of 12 months from the date of signing, and will provide for a 6 month extension by mutual agreement of the Seller and Buyer. In case of inclement weather should disrupt logging for an appreciable time.

The Mississippi Forestry Commission does hereby fix $4000 as the minimum acceptable price for the designated timber. In submitting a bid, please mail your bid and request in an envelope addressed as follows:

Heart attack victims sought

"Can heart attacks be prevented by lowering cholesterol?" is the question facing a team of University of Arkansas researchers conducting a study of the relationship between heart disease and cholesterol. Most heart trouble results from atherosclerosis or hardening of the arteries. A clue to the cause of atherosclerosis may be that cholesterol, a fatty substance, is found in the diseased arteries. However, it is still uncertain whether cholesterol lowering can actually prevent heart attacks.

The University is seeking persons who have had only one heart attack in the past five years and who are between the ages of 25 through 64. Anyone interested in more information may call the University of Arkansas Hyperlipidemia Study collect at (501) 661-5291.
